

Your relationships. A shared route to capability.

EAS can help chambers, associations, guilds, business networks, sector clusters and community organisations connect members with relevant AI development. Strengthen your proposition while retaining your identity and trusted relationships.

Shared foundations. Different pathways. Continual growth.

Trust, ethics, privacy, security, inclusion and human judgement.

Reuse the core. Tailor the application. Retain your identity.

Listen to member needs

Identify common tasks, barriers and capability gaps before selecting learning. Keep the offer relevant rather than promoting a generic course catalogue.

Choose your role

Convene, refer, co-design or work with an agreed delivery provider. Participation does not require your organisation to become a training provider.

Learn across the network

Share approved examples and practical lessons, including what did not work. Build a useful feedback loop without sharing confidential member information.

PLAN THE DELIVERY

Start with a member discussion or bounded pilot. Agree who recruits, contracts, delivers, supports learners and follows up, with clear responsibilities for each participating organisation.

AGREE THE OFFER

Discuss member-funded, commissioned, sponsored or jointly supported activity. Agree any referral arrangement, revenue share, branding and renewal terms explicitly; none is assumed by joining the conversation.

TRUST IN PRACTICE

Membership does not authorise sharing contact lists or learner records. Agree appropriate information flows and permissions, and keep each organisation's confidential evidence separate.

CHOOSE THE PATHWAY

Connect shared foundations to relevant subjects, roles and sector applications. Offer depth, breadth or refreshers according to need rather than a requirement to complete every level.

EVIDENCE AND RECOGNITION

Track qualified interest, participation, reviewed learning and member feedback separately. Member reach is not the same as paid demand, learning impact or sustainable delivery.

Bring your member needs, chosen role and a pilot idea.
