

Bring your expertise. Connect it to continual growth.

EAS offers a shared foundation for organisations developing talent, advancing research, widening participation or strengthening responsible practice. Contribute your distinctive expertise without recreating the whole learning journey.

Shared foundations. Different pathways. Continual growth.

Trust, ethics, privacy, security, inclusion and human judgement.

Reuse the core. Tailor the application. Retain your identity.

Keep your specialism

Connect your insight, permitted resources or mentoring to relevant learning. Retain your mission, identity and relationships.

Broaden participation

Shape activity around lived experience, accessibility and additional learning needs. Design support with the people it is intended to serve.

Connect creative practice

Bring arts, design and events alongside science, technology and engineering. Use real contexts to explore responsible application and human judgement.

PLAN THE DELIVERY

Agree a defined contribution, activity or pilot with an accountable owner. Clarify content permissions, learner support, review responsibilities and how feedback will improve the next version.

AGREE THE OFFER

Scope co-design, contribution, commissioned delivery or sponsorship separately. Record costs, rights, responsibilities and any funding conditions; participation does not automatically include delivery or assessment authority.

TRUST IN PRACTICE

Partner participation does not grant access to learner identities or portfolios. Published guidance can inform learning without implying the author's partnership, regulatory approval or endorsement.

CHOOSE THE PATHWAY

Use shared foundations with relevant specialist application. Recognition of existing capability and appropriate refreshers can reduce unnecessary repetition without bypassing review requirements.

EVIDENCE AND RECOGNITION

Gather proportionate evidence of participation, learning and useful application. Test whether reusing the core reduces duplicated effort before making claims about saved time or cost.

Bring your expertise, intended audience and a possible activity.
